Synopsis

Compute the inverse cosh of a number

Syntax

\[ y = \text{acosh}(x) \]

Description

The \text{acosh} function computes the inverse cosh of a number and returns the result as an array. If its argument is an array, the \text{acosh} function will be applied to each element and the result returned as an array.

See Also

\textit{slangrtl}

\texttt{acos, asin, asinh, atan, atanh, cos, cosh, exp, log, log10, sin, sinh, sqrt, tan, tanh, where}